Eight Other Survivors Taken to Hospital Suffering From Serious Wounds.

12 U. S. SUBJECTS ESCAPE

Two Submarines Participate in Attack, and Shells Are Soon Bursting All Over Deck; Only Two Lifeboats Are in Condition to Be Launched.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 17.—James Tringor of Roanoke, Va., according to a dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from a British port, was killed by shrapnel fired by a German submarine upon the open boats of a torpedoed British steamer on which the American was employed.

Another member of the crew, a fireman, was wounded by a shell from the submarine and died as he was being placed on a rescuing ship.

There were 12 Americans among the 49 survivors landed at a British port.

Tryon Wood, one of the American survivors, said that eight survivors had been taken to a hospital suffering from serious wounds.

"We were attacked at 6 o'clock Sunday morning by two German submarines," said Wood. "We tried to escape by its zigzagging but it was no use. They got our range soon and shells were bursting all over the deck. We succeeded in launching two boats on the starboard side, those on the port side having been shot away. When the nearest submarine was only a quarter of a mile away, she sent six shrapnel shells at us, only one of which took effect."

U. S. DESTROYERS CRUISE MANY MILES WITHOUT HAD MISHAP

BASE OF AMERICAN FLOTILLA IN BRITISH WATERS, OCT. 17.—In the five months of active service that they have seen in the great war, the American destroyers have steamed, connectedly, a total distance of 875,000 miles. This is more by several times than the distance cruised in two whole years of peace. And what makes the figures all the more impressive is that they have been reached without the loss through an accident of war of a single life or of a very serious mishap to any of the units.

EXTENSIVE GERMAN OPERATIONS ABOUT ISLAND OF OESSEL

PETROGRAD, Oct. 17.—The Russian war office has completely lost touch with the Russian forces on the island of Oesel, it was officially announced today.

Naval skirmishing is continuing in the waters around Oesel island, off the Gulf of Riga, Russian patrol ships having had encounters with German torpedo craft.

A fleet of Zeppelins is reported over Noon sound, northeast of Oesel island.

One German dreadnaught, which ran into the Russian mine field defending Oesel island, in October 12, struck a mine the statement adds. After the explosion the war ship made for the coast and its ultimate fate is not known.

GERMANS NOW HOLD ENTIRE ISLAND OF OESSEL

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 17.—German troops have captured the Russian island of Oesel in the Gulf of Riga in its entirety, it was officially announced today by the German general staff. The German statement says that Russian naval forces had several encounters with Russian torpedo boats and gunboats north of the island and in the bay of Riga and these resulted favorably for the Germans. The Russian ships were compelled to retire. The German vessels, it is added, sustained no losses.

MORE MINERS QUIT

Illinois Operators Say They Must Charge More for Coal.

By Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 17.—Reports to the headquarters of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association here today indicate that many more mines in Central and Southern Illinois had shut down as a part of the movement of miners to force an immediate increase in wages. It was estimated 60 miners were idle.

Operators said today they could not give the miners an advance unless the Federal Fuel administration allows them to charge more for coal. The situation has been taken up with Washington.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois mine workers, has informed the Federal authorities, it is said, that open rebellion exists in the Illinois field.

Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield today warned coal operators and miners where strikes have occurred or are impending that the government would take charge of coal production if it continued to be threatened by strike.

U. S. LIKELY TO BE REPRESENTED AT THE ALLIES' CONFERENCE

All Nations at War With Germany to Have Meeting, Probably at Paris.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—While official announcement is being withheld it is practically certain that the United States will be represented at the coming conference of all the nations at war with Germany which probably will be held in Paris. Secretary Lansing today authorized the statement that it definitely had been decided that there would be a conference and that the United States was considering participating in it with the possibility that it would be decided to do so.

CAMPAIGN STARTS

Salvation Army Seeks Funds for Army "Huts."

The Connellsville committee of the Western Pennsylvania council, Salvation Army War Camp Fund, has begun its work in the campaign to raise money for the establishment of "huts" for the American troops in army cantonments or abroad. The local committee consists of Charles F. Hood, E. W. Horner, and H. E. Schenck. Mr. Schenck being the treasurer, to whom checks must be made payable. These men have begun to mail out letters, urging contributions to the fund.

Nearly 2,000 young men from Fayette county now are in National Army cantonments, the letter points out. Recreation facilities, physical comforts, bodily discipline, and sanitary safe guards, it goes on to say, are being provided for these men by the government and volunteer agencies.

The moral and spiritual tone of the camp means much, however, and the Salvation Army wants to act as a spiritual agency at every army camp.

The American branch of the army already has underway the erection of headquarters "huts" or cabins on the outskirts and near the gates of the cantonments. These establishments will not seek to duplicate the facilities for religious and moral helplessness within the camps, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., but will be primarily rescue headquarters for the headstrong boys, the derelict soldier and the dangerous camp follower.

American Salvationist headquarters have already been opened at the camps of the first American contingent in France.

BRITISH AIRMEN DROP MANY BOMBS ON BRUGES DOCKS

German Naval Base is Target of English Air Raiders.

ENEMY MACHINE DOWNED

Official Report Says That on Tuesday Fighter Patrols Brought Down Double Seater German Flier Near Zarges; Observer Falls; Flier Burns

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 17.—Tons of bombs were dropped on docks at Bruges, in Belgium, on Monday night by British naval airplanes. The British admiral, in a statement announcing the raid, says:

"Naval aircraft dropped many tons of bombs on the Bruges docks on Monday night.

"On Tuesday one of our fighter patrols downed a double-seater enemy machine in the vicinity of Zarges. The observer fell out and the machine turned over and fell in flames. All our machines returned."

ALLIES MAY START DRIVE IN BULGARIA

All the important infantry fighting last night in the western war theater was confined to the French front where attacks by the Germans in the Aisne and Champagne sectors as well as in the Verdun region were repulsed by General Pétain's troops.

There is promise of a speedy renewal of the activities in Flanders, however. Field Marshal Haig, for instance, sends from British headquarters today one of those laconic reports, that so frequently have preceded the periodic attacks off that front. "Nothing of special interest to report," has meant in several of these cases that the British guns had opened their terrific fire preparatory to an attack.

The German high command apparently is anticipating a renewal of the British drive and the latest Berlin statement in reporting the intensive artillery activity in Flanders places no infantry attacks had taken place "up to the present."

An admission of possible significance was contained in the German statement on the Macedonian front situation, received late last night. Several villages in the Struma region in the right flank of the allied line northeast of Saloniki have been "ceded" by the Bulgarians to the British, Berlin announces.

There has been notably active patrol activity by the Italian army in Macedonia recently and it seems possible that some aggressive move is finally to be made of the big force the allies have had assembled there for many months.

Such a move must be made in anticipation of a Bulgarian attack on the Saloniki army of the allies, to which Germany is reported to have been urging King Ferdinand. Emperor William's visit to Sophia had been connected by one of the German newspapers with this reported prospect.

Greece might now be expected to aid the Entente in repelling such an attack or in pushing an offensive. A declaration of war by Greece against Bulgaria in fact seems to be expected shortly by the Central powers.

In making this announcement today, Sir George Cave declared an advisory board of prominent surveyors will be appointed soon to make a canvass of bomb proof shelters.

German Airliners Kill 10.

NEGRO IN TROUBLE FOR ACQUIRING TWO WIVES, ONE OF THEM WHITE

Ellis Chapman Claims He Thought Long Separation as Good as Divorce.

Ellis Chapman, colored, of Brookville, is in the lockup here on a charge of having two wives, the first a negro, the second a white woman. Mrs. Chapman No. 1 is in the county home, suffering from tuberculosis, and is reported to be in a critical condition. Chapman has not been living with her for over four years, and he says he thought the law automatically divorced a man and wife when they have been separated for that period of time. He will be given a hearing before Alderman Fred Munk as soon as Mrs. Chapman No. 1 is able to give her testimony.

Joseph Betters, whose wife is a sister of Chapman's first wife, made information against the man charging him with adultery. Constables L. J. Gushburg and S. A. Fasson arrested Chapman at his parents' home last night, his white wife protesting bitterly against his being taken away. He will be given a hearing before Alderman Fred Munk as soon as Mrs. Chapman No. 1 is able to give her testimony.

SAGE INSANE

Man Locked Up Monday Night Is To Be Taken to Asylum.

Francis Sage, who was arrested at the home of Joe Sage in Dutch Pot on Monday night and taken to the city lockup and only in a shirt, is to be removed to an insane asylum, probably at Somerset. He is still at the lockup, violently insane. He maintains that he is a Biblical character, and for that reason insists that he ought not to wear modern clothes.

Sage was released from the county jail because of ill health. He walked as far as Duquesne. When discovered and brought to Connellsville he was taken to the home of Joe Sage where he proceeded with his prowling night and day until the family could stand it no longer and had him locked up. He has not slept for three months, except in naps of a few minutes, his relatives say. It was he who was arrested for occupying a house on Prospect street without the formality of seeing the owner.

In yesterday's issue the prisoner's name was given as Joe Sage. It should have been Francis.

CHILD BADLY BURNED

Falls on Register When He Reaches for Ball.

Harry Porter, Jr., 11 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Porter of Scotland, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Percy of West Peach street, suffered a painful burn this morning when he fell on a ball, register in the floor of the Porter home.

The child was sitting on the floor, and the supposition is that while reaching for a ball, he was playing with, he fell on the register. One side of his face, his ear, and one hand were painfully burned. A physician was summoned and dressed the burns. Word received this afternoon at the Percy home stated that the child was resting easy.

CO. A TO RECRUIT 100 MEN AT HOME

Company A, 110th Regiment, of Monongahela City, will be recruited to war strength, 300 men, at home. Captain E. W. Hartland wired his home town from Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., last Friday to send 100 recruits immediately. Captain Hartland had planned to recruit up his company from men in Monongahela, Donora, Charlestown, and other river towns, but the orders of the war department, disbanded the Eighteenth Regiment caused him to cancel this course, since it had been planned to fill up the company with men from that regiment. Now that the Eighteenth has been restored to its original status, Company A is short 100 men.

There has been no indication whether or not Company D would follow the course of Company A. Captain R. S. Morton called for 100 recruits not long ago, and then cancelled his request when the re-organization plans were announced. Now, it seems, the local command may be filled up either with draft men or with men of the third regiment, which is to be broken up.

INDIAN HEAD LAD LIKES LIFE WITH PERSHING'S ARMY

E. K. Sparks Writes to His Mother That He Is Happy in French Camp.

IS LEARNING MANY THINGS

Expresses Belief That Army Life Will Be of More Benefit Than Four Years at School; Physical Training Is Harder Than Football Practice.

Writing to his mother, Mrs. J. L. Sparks of Indian Head, from France, Edward R. Sparks, with Battery E of the Seventh Field Artillery, American Expeditionary Forces, declares: "I am not the least bit worried and am as happy as I could be. I think I will learn more this year than I could in four years of school."

Out of his monthly stipend of $33 a month, the pay of an American soldier abroad, Sparks is able to save $20, the letter shows, this indicating that there are not a great many opportunities for spending money when in service in France.

In his letter, young Sparks also pays tribute to his parents who have given two sons to this country. Howard R. Sparks is now with the 13th Field Artillery, Battery E, at Fort Bliss, Texas. Edward's letter from somewhere in France follows:

"My dearest mother: I suppose you are looking for another letter from me and I will write you a short one this evening. I received a letter some time ago with some money in it. It had been forwarded from Texas. I surely came in good for me as I had not been paid for a while back. We have been paid since, however. I have made an allotment of $30 per month of my salary. It will start in September. I made it payable to Dad. I want him to put it in bank for me.

"I don't know whether I told you about meeting a fellow from California Normal or not. He exhibited the same time Howard did. I run around quite a bit with him. He is with me tonight. I expect to meet more fellows from school and night possibly meet Howard as we are all in the same branch of service. I have not received any mail for some time, but am hoping to get some soon. Of course, mail is very uncertain, and you must not be worried if you don't hear from me very often as I may be some place where I cannot write.

"Really, I don't want you to worry about me at all. You know there are thousands of other soldiers here who have mothers behind them. I know that some day you will be very proud to think you had two sons to offer to the service of our country. I am not the least bit worried myself and am as happy as I possibly could be. I think, too, I will learn more this year than I could in four years of school. Remember, I will be too old to finish my education when I come back.

"I am feeling much better physically than I ever felt before. The strenuous drill and strict discipline of the army are much harder than football training. I guess when you get this the kiddies will have started to school. Oh, they have started now—I can't realize how time does fly. But let it fly for the faster it flies, the sooner I will see you all again.

"I will not write any more now as there is not much I am allowed to say. But you know I am well and contented. Tell everybody, Hello. With love,

"Edward R. Sparks."

MAY COMMAND MARINES MOBILIZED IN FRANCE

Brig. Gen. John Archer Lejeune of the Marine corps, whose assignment to the marine commandment at Quantico, Va., has given rise to the report that he is to command the first division of marines to be mobilized in France.

General Lejeune has been serving as assistant to General Barnett, the commandant of the Marine corps. He was graduated from the naval academy in June, 1885. In 1899 he was assigned to the Marine corps as a second lieutenant. General Lejeune has seen much service. He has been on duty in Panama, the Philippines and Mexico.

MONTH'S ILLNESS MAY DEPRIVE SMITH OF A COMMISSION

Local Member of Officers' Training Camp Loses Third of Training Period.

Writing from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., Levi Smith, a member of the second officers' training camp, expresses the fear that a month's absence from regular troop formation, due to an attack of fever, may cause him to lose out in his efforts to obtain a commission. He has recovered sufficiently to take up work in the quartermaster's department but he does not know whether he will be permitted to go back into active training again.

"I have lost about one month and am very much concerned as it will undoubtedly have a great deal to do with the final result as to whether or not I receive a commission. I am afraid that the loss of that one month, about one-third of the actual time for training, will cause me to lose out," he writes.

"It is cold enough to freeze a person down here, but with all that it seems to be very interesting all the way through. A nice bunch of fellows to associate with and plenty to do when you are able to work. My own experience in this camp leads me to believe that all one hears about the average soldier is not true. Soldiers, after all, are just men. Just the same sort we would meet crowded together at social and dances. There are black sheep among them, of course just as there are black sheep among the dangers of social life. Taken all the way through the men here are a fine class to associate with.

"The reserve officers' training camp has subscribed $255,000 in the Liberty Bond campaign according to reports filed recently. It is expected that the subscriptions will exceed $275,000. This goes to show that the men here are not only willing to sacrifice their time, business and lives if necessary, but are also investing in the Liberty Bonds very heavily."

Mr. Moffat, who is connected with the Department of Labor and Industry in the capacity of expert in fire insurance, is also an expert in fire construction and fire protection.

QUALIFICATION TRIALS

Two Wells-Mills Drivers to Make Test Runs Tomorrow.

Qualification trials for the Autumn classic at the Altoona Speedway will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons when the 15 fastest cars in the field of 24 entries will be picked to enter the 188 1/2 mile professional grind, beginning at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Fred McCarthy, driving Ira Vail's old Hudson and D. W. Hickey, driving Milford's old Hudson, will qualify Thursday afternoon and it is likely that a large number of Conneltsville people will be on hand to witness the tests. McCarthy is a veteran driver and has figured in several speedway contests at the wheel of a Haynes car. Hickey is the year's sensation in the automobile racing game, having finished fifth at Sheepshead Bay in the first big race in which he participated.

The two Conneltsville cars, entered by the Wells-Mills Electric company, are in the best of condition and are being put into final shape today for the trials tomorrow. ### Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. As people grow older they restrict their activity, neglect to take sufficient exercise, and indulge a natural disposition to take things easy. The digestive organs become more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

It is of special importance to the health of elderly people that the bowels be kept normally active. A mild, yet effective, remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of old folks, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It costs only fifty cents a bottle, and should be in every family medicine chest. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

I HAD TO WHIP MYSELF TO WORK, ASSERTS YEAGER

Assemblyman Says He Was So Run Down That He Always Felt Tired.

"I sure was down and out there for a time," says "Charlie" Yeager, an expert assembler at the International factory, whose home is at 18 South Jefferson street, Altoona, Pa. "I was nervous and all run down. I had no appetite and I couldn't get a good night's rest and used to pile out in the morning feeling more tired than when I turned in."

"I hadn't a bit of ambition, and morning after morning I had to whip myself to work because I felt so tired out that I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and you know there's no pleasure in that kind of a life."

"So when I read what Tanlac had done for other folks here in Altoona I started taking it myself, and it sure has fixed me up fine, and I went to pass the good word along."

"My appetite has come back, and I can take a walk that tired feeling has left me, and I sleep fine all night long and wake up feeling refreshed and rested and ready for my day's work."

Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic, is now being introduced and explained here by The Conneltsville Drug Company.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Mason's Drug Store.

80,000 CARS SAVED

By Better Loading and Other Forms of Co-operation by Shippers.

How the co-operation of the shipping public made possible a saving of more than 80,000 freight cars in a single month on the Pennsylvania railroad lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, is shown by a report on freight car loading which has just been compiled for July, 1917.

As a result of the campaign to make freight cars do more work, and of the willingness of shippers to aid in this direction, the average loads carried per car in July of this year was 23.51 tons. In July, 1916, the average load was 23.57 tons. The improvement this year was 3.91 tons per car, or more than 13 per cent which means that the shipping public made 13 per cent better use of the freight car facilities of the Pennsylvania railroad.

This effected a saving of 81,268 cars in the number required to handle the traffic on the Pennsylvania lines east, during July of the past summer.

DECIDE YOURSELF

The Opportunity is Here, Backed By Conneltsville Testimony.

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement.

Read Conneltsville endorsement. Read the statements of Conneltsville citizens.

And decide for yourself.

Here is one Conneltsville case of it. W. H. Lowe, 815 Third St., N., says: "My kidneys caused me a lot of annoyance for about a year. I was bothered constantly by pains in the small of my back and I didn't have any control over the kidney secretions. I took treatments from two doctors, but didn't get relief. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, got a box and began taking them. They relieved me at once. This was a few months ago and I haven't had any trouble since."

JOHNSTOWN NEXT

Big Home Game of Year for Conneltsville High School Footballers. Conneltsville high meets Johnstown high Saturday on Fayette field in what promises to be one of the fastest home games of the year. The Conneltsville boys are stepping forward by leaps and bounds, showing improvement in each game they play, and prospects are that they will give Johnstown a hard fight. Perella, who was hurt in the Greensburg game, will be in shape for Saturday's contest and there are no other players on the sick list now.

The major portion of yesterday afternoon's practice session was devoted to tackling the dummy, and otherwise improving the team's defensive work.

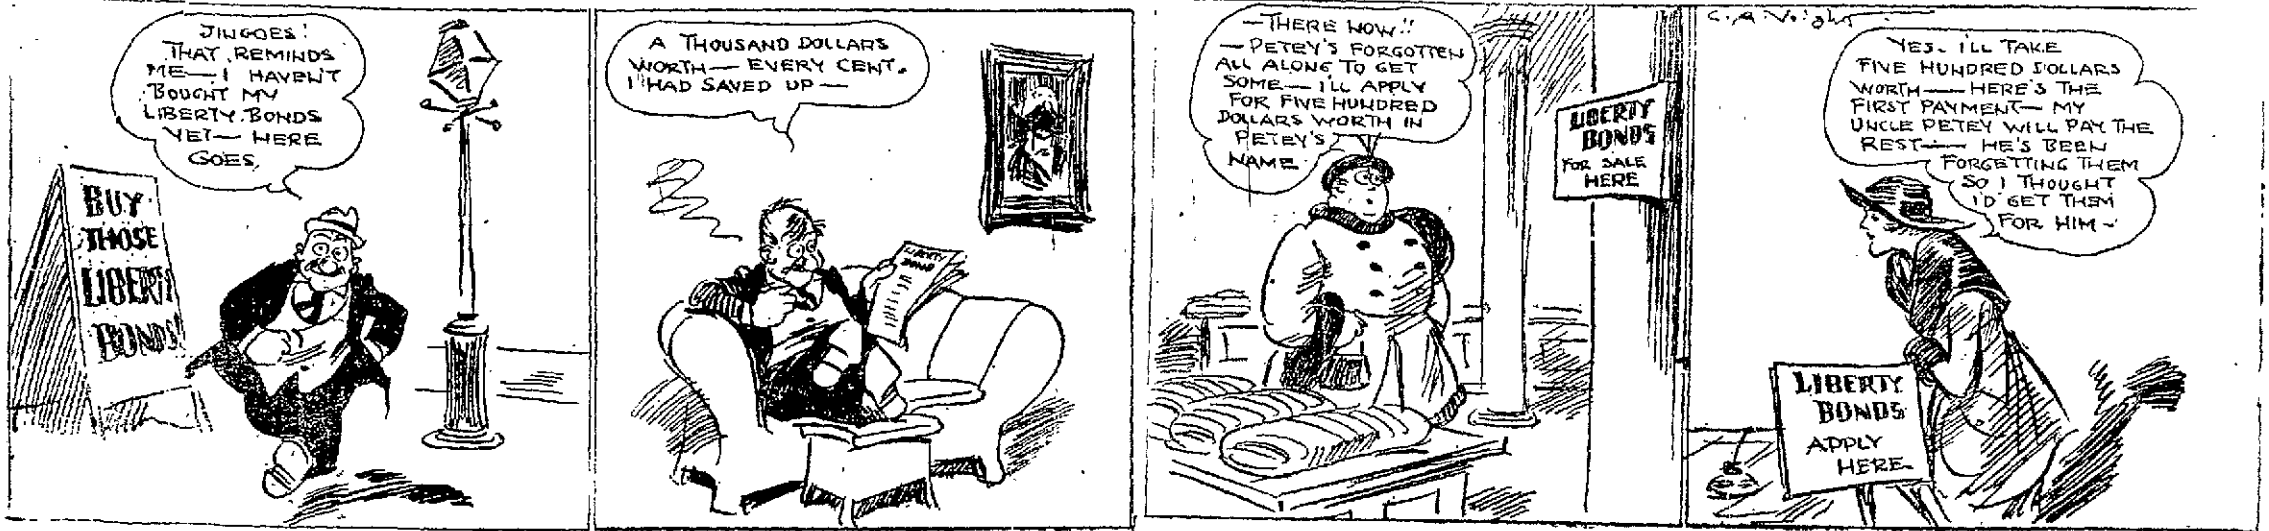

Saturday will see the pit posts up and lines stretched for the first time this year. The line will help wonderfully in keeping the crowd off the field. On next Saturday, Beaver Falls comes here for a game. November 3 is still an open date on the local schedule.

The Second Liberty Loan

Something More
Than Patriotism

Take time to read this.

The patriotism of the American investor has already been put to test, and proved both fervent and practical.

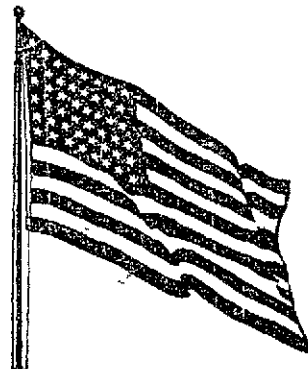

More than four million subscribers responded to the call of the first Liberty Loan. Of these, probably three-fourths had never before bought a bond of any kind.

Beyond question, it was a great burst of patriotism that brought about the heavy over-subscription of the first loan. Few people sought to analyze it as an investment. It was above all the expression of their determination to help win the war. The second Liberty Loan will be supported by a patriotism even more profound. That may be taken for granted.

But since the Government asks not for a gift, but for a loan, it is no reflection upon the generous spirit of the nation to examine the second Liberty Loan strictly upon its financial merits. When we do so, we find that it is an extraordinarily sound, profitable, business-like investment.

1. The security behind a United States Government Bond is the best in the world.

The credit of the United States is the best in the world. We have a national wealth of probably 250 billions, a national income of about 40 billions yearly and bank resources of 37 billions. One-third of the estimated wealth of the entire world belongs to this country—more than double the wealth of any other nation—three times the wealth of Germany.

2. The amount which the war compels us to borrow and spend does not affect this security.

In the Civil War, the United States raised three billions, although at that time our bank resources were only one and one-half billions. On the same basis, therefore, this country could now support a national debt of 74 billions.

Before the present war, our debt was about one and one-half billions. Add to that the bond issues authorized this year, including the present loan, and we are still utilizing only a small part of our resources.

We have already entered upon a sweeping campaign of conservation. Everywhere production is being speeded up and consumption reduced. We cannot by these means entirely offset the current wastage of war, but with the coming of peace, this heightened efficiency throughout the entire nation will continue and will speedily restore and even increase our national resources.

3. The rate of interest is exceptional.

The rate of the interest of the second Liberty Loan is higher than any United States Government loan for more than twenty years. The investment is not only sound but profitable. It is exempt from all taxes except estate and inheritance taxes, income surtaxes and excess profits and war profits taxes.

To those who have not figured it out, the fact that the bonds are subject to these war taxes may make them seem less desirable than the first issue. The fact is, that for any investor whose income is less than $100,000 they are more desirable. The interest rate on the previous issue, at 3½ per cent, is one-eighth less than on the new issue at 4 per cent. Therefore, until the tax amounts to one-eighth of the income, or 12½ per cent, the new issue will be more profitable. Since surtaxes equivalent to 12½ per cent of the income will apply only to those incomes greater than $100,000, any investor with less than that income will obtain a greater net return from the second Liberty Loan than from the first.

4. The market value may increase.

These bonds are assured of a broad market, and their price should never materially decrease. They are convertible into any later issue which may be brought out during the war, carrying a higher interest rate. There is, furthermore, a possibility that in future years they may command a considerably higher price. Normally the credit of the United States Government makes possible an interest rate of 3 per cent, or less. If, after the war, the interest rate returns to 3 per cent, Government bonds on which the rate is 4 per cent would be paying one-third more than other bonds, and therefore their market value would rise well above par.

We recommend that our customers subscribe to the Second Liberty Loan not merely as a patriotic duty, but also as a conservative and profitable investment.

Come in today and give us your subscription.

THE MAXWELL WORLD'S NON-STOP CHAMPION.

MAXWELL THAT HAS RUN 138,864 MILES IS ON ITS WAY HERE

World Champion Machine Soon to Be Exhibited at Armstrong's Garage.

Admirers of the remarkable motor car building have a unique opportunity now with the arrival in Connellsville of the World's Champion Maxwell. This splendid illustration of Maxwell engine efficiency, endurance and economy, is the identical car which, under the strict observation and sanction of the American Automobile Association, ran for 44 days and 44 nights, without a single stop of the motor, attaining in that nerve-racking period the unprecedented total of 138,864 miles. This unheard of distance without a motor stop!

Not content with this remarkable run, officials of the Maxwell Company decided to further test its product and sent the car on the road, leaving Los Angeles, the car has visited almost every state in the union, the provinces of Canada and the Villa-infested states of Mexico. Now, after two years of constant travel, the Maxwell Champion has a total mileage record of 138,864 miles, and it is still going along like a new car. So much for engine efficiency and endurance which the above records surely prove. Now as to economy—another uncontroverted Maxwell attribute. In a recent test, held in Peoria, Ill., with competent newspaper observers, this Champion, on the streets without any special preparation, ran 31.1 miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

While in Connellsville, the Champion Maxwell may be seen on the streets and at the salesrooms of the C. J. Armstrong, Maxwell dealer for this city. The Champion is in direct charge of James M. Gould of publicity department of the Maxwell company at Detroit.

It is expected that all interested car owners will take this opportunity to see and inspect this Maxwell which has run more than five times around the world, holds the World's Non-Stop Record and is still capable of making more than 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

26 ENTRIES IN THE AUTUMN CLASSIC, HOT ELIMINATION TRIALS

At Least Nine and Probably 11 Will Not Qualify For the Big Race.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 17.—When Ralph Mulford qualified for the Grand Prix races at Chicago Saturday afternoon at a speed of 119 miles an hour, fans expected to see some traveling in the big race. They were not disappointed for Mulford averaged 119 miles an hour in the 50-mile event, which he won. Gaston Chevrolet and Tom Alley, who also figured as winners, averaged about 115 miles an hour. All three of these famous drivers are entered for the Uniontown races and will arrive here today. Their cars will be here tomorrow. Gaston Chevrolet is a brother of Louis Chevrolet, the driving driver who established the track record at Uniontown and had it lowered by "Red" Fetterman, was averaged better than 92 miles an hour in a 100 lap grind. Inasmuch as there are 24 and probably 26 entries for Saturday's races, at least nine and probably 11 must be eliminated in the qualification trials on Thursday, and this insures great speed for the test runs.

Tom Alley, winner of one of the three events at Chicago Saturday afternoon was rescued from obscurity in a Michigan avenue repair shop in Chicago by Ralph DePalma, who gave him an opportunity to ride as his mechanic on the Mercedes. After two seasons of oil pumping, Alley moved over to the driver's seat and in 1914 joined the Deussenberg team, winning the 100 mile race at Minneapolis from a talented field and establishing a new American record of 1:21.30 for the distance. The following year he drove a Deussenberg and an Open, finishing third in San Diego road race and the Sioux City Speedway event, taking fourth place in the inaugural contest at the Twin Cities and the Vincent Astor cup classic. His purses that year totaled $14,000.

KING-OF-THE-KAYBER RIFLES

A Romance of Adventure

By TALBOT MUNDY

CHAPTER IV.

It was a musty smelling entrance, so dark that to see was scarcely possible after the hot glare outside. Dinky King made out Rewa Gunga mounting stairs to the left and followed him. When he guessed himself two stories at least above road level, there was a sudden blaze of reflected light and he blinked at more mirrors than he could count. Curtains were reflected in each mirror, and little glowing lamps so cunningly arranged that it was not possible to guess which were real and which were not. King stood still.

"Then suddenly, as if she had done it a thousand times before and surprised a thousand people, a little nut-brown maid parted the middle pair of curtains and said "Salome!" smiling with teeth that were as white as porcelain. King looked scarcely interested and not at all disturbed.

Rewa Gunga hurried past him, thrusting the little maid aside, and led the way. King followed him into a long room, whose walls were hung with richer silks than any he remembered to have seen. In a great wide window to one side some twenty women began at once to make flute music. Silken punka! swung from chains, waiting back and forth a cloud of sandalwood smoke that veiled the whole scene in mysterious, scented mist.

"De welcome!" laughed Rewa Gunga; "I am to do the honors, since she is not here. Be seated, sahib."

King chose a divan at the room's furthest end, near tall curtains that led into rooms beyond. He turned his back toward the reason for his choice. On a little ivory-lacquered ebony table about ten feet away lay a knife, that was almost the exact duplicate of the one inside his shirt. He could sense hushed expectancy on every side—could feel the eyes of many women fixed on him—and began to draw on his guard as a fighting man draws on armor. There and then he deliberately set himself to resist mesmerism, which is the East's chief weapon.

Rewa Gunga, perfectly at home, sprawled leisurely along a cushioned couch with a grace that the West has not learned yet; but King did not make the mistake of trusting him any better for his easy manners, and his eyes sought swiftly for some unorthodox, unplanned thing on which to rest, that he might save himself by a sort of mental leverage.

Glancing along the wall that faced the big window, he noticed for the first time a huge Afridi, who sat on a stool and leaned back against the silken hangings with arms folded.

"Who is that man?" he asked.

"He? Oh, he is a savage—just a big savage," said Rewa Gunga, looking vaguely annoyed.

"Why is he here?"

He did not dare let go of this chance side issue. He knew that Rewa Gunga wished him to talk of Yasmini and to ask questions about her, and that if he succumbed to that temptation all his self-control would be cunningly sapped away from him until his secrets, and his very senses, belonged to some one else.

"What is he doing here?" he insisted.

"He? Oh, he does nothing. He waits," purred the Rangar. "He is to be your body-servant on your journey to the North. He is nothing—nobody at all—except that he is to be trusted utterly because he loves Yasmini. He is obedient! A big obedient fool! Let him be!"

"No," said King. "If he's to be my man I'll speak to him."

He felt himself winning. Already the spell of the room was lifting, and he no longer felt the cloud of sandalwood like a veil across his brain.

"Won't you tell him to come here to me?"

Rewa Gunga laughed, resting his silk turban against the wall hangings and clasping both hands about his knee. It was as a man might laugh who has been touched in a bout with foils.

"Oh—Isami!" he called, with a voice like a bell, that made King stare. The Afridi seemed to come out of a deep sleep and looked bewildered, rubbing his eyes and feeling whether his turban was on straight. He combed his beard with nervous fingers as he gazed about him and caught Rewa Gunga's eye. Then he sprang to his feet.

"May I have a sheet of paper?" he asked, for he knew that another fight for his self-command was due.

Rewa Gunga gave an order, and a maid brought scented paper on a silver tray. He drew out his own fountain pen, and since his one object was to give his brain employment, he wrote down a list of the names he had recognized in the train on the journey from Peshawar, not thinking of a use for the list until he had finished. Then, though, a real use occurred to him.

While he began to write more than a dozen dancing women swept into the room from behind the silk hangings in a concerted movement that was all lithe stumbers grace. Wood-wind music called to them from the great deep window. They began to chant, still dreamily, and with the chant the dance began, in and out, round and round, lazily, ever so lazily, wreathed in bonyard gossamer that was scarcely more solid than the sandalwood smoke they wafted into rings.

King watched them and listened to their chant until he began to recognize the strain on the eye muscles that preceded the mesmeristic spell. Then he wrote and read what he had written and wrote again.

"What have you written?" asked a quiet voice at his ear; and he turned to look straight in the eyes of Rewa Gunga, who had leaned forward to read over his shoulder. Just for one second he hovered on the brink of a quick defeat. Having escaped the Sufis of the dancing women, Chakravarti waited for him in the shape of eyes that were pools of hot mystery. It was the sound of his own voice that brought him back to the world again and saved his will for his unbound.

"That it, won't you?" he laughed.

"Did you see?" Rewa Gunga chuckled. "He rose from his place like a buffalo, rump first and then shoulder after shoulder! Such men are safe! Such men have no guile beyond what will help them to obey! Such men think too slowly to invent deceit for its own sake!"

The Afridi came and towered above them, standing with gnarled hands knotted into clubs.

"What is thy name?" King asked him.

"Isami!" he boomed.

"Thou art to be my servant?"

"Aye! So said she. I am her man. I obey!"

"When did she say so?" King asked him blandly. The hillman stroked his great beard and stood considering the question. King entered a shrewd suspicion that he was not so stupid as he chose to seem. His eyes were too hawk-bright to be a stupid man's.

"Before she went away," he answered at last.

"When did she go away?"

He thought again, then "Yesterday," he said.

"Why did you wait before you answered?"

The Afridi's eyes furtively sought Rewa Gunga's and found no aid there. Watching the Rangar less furtively, but even less obviously, King was aware that his eyes were nearly closed, as if they were not interested. The fingers that clasped his knee drummed on it indifferently, seeing which King allowed himself to smile.

"Never mind," he told Isami. "It is no matter. It is ever well to think twice before speaking once, for thus mistakes die stillborn. Only the monkey-folk thrive on quick answers—is it not so? Thou art a man of many inches—of them and snow—hey, but thou art a man! If the heart within those great ribs of thine is true as thine arms are strong I shall be fortunate to have thee for a servant!"

"Aye!" said the Afridi. "But what are words? She has said I am thy servant, and to hear her is to obey!"

"Then, take me a telegram," said King.

He began to write at once on a half-sheet of paper that he tore from a letter he had in his pocket, transposing into cypher as he went along.

Yasmini has gone North. Is there any reason at your end why I should not follow her at once?

He addressed it in plain English to his friend the general at Peshawar, and handed it to Isami, directing him carefully to a government office where the cypher signature would be recognized and the telegram given precedence.

Isami stalked off with it, striding like Moses down from Sinai—nose—hawk-eye—flowing beard—dignity and all, and King settled down to guard himself against the next attempt on his sovereign self-command.

Now he chose to notice the knife on the ebony table as if he had not seen it before. He got up and reached for it and brought it back, turning it over and over in his hand.

"A strange knife," he said.

"Yes—from Khiljan," said Rewa Gunga, and King eyed him as one void eyes another.

"What makes you say it is from Khiljan?"

"She brought it from Khiljan caves herself! There is another knife that matches it, but that is not here. That bracelet you now wear, sahib, is from Khiljan caves too! She has the secret of the caves!"

"I have heard that the 'Heart of the Hills' is there," King answered. "Is the 'Heart of the Hills' a treasure house?"

Rewa Gunga laughed.

"Ask her, sahib! Perhaps she will tell you! Perhaps she will tell you yet! Who knows? She is a woman of resource and unexpectedness—let her women dance for you a while."

King nodded. Then he got up and laid the knife back on the little table. A minute or so later he noticed that at a sign from Rewa Gunga a woman left the great window place and spirited the knife away.

"May I have a sheet of paper?" he asked, for he knew that another fight for his self-command was due.

Rewa Gunga gave an order, and a maid brought scented paper on a silver tray. He drew out his own fountain pen, and since his one object was to give his brain employment, he wrote down a list of the names he had recognized in the train on the journey from Peshawar, not thinking of a use for the list until he had finished. King watched them and listened to their chant until he began to recognize the strain on the eye muscles that preceded the mesmeristic spell. Then he wrote and read what he had written and wrote again.

"If you know, take this pen and mark the names of whichever of those men are still in Delhi."

Rewa Gunga took pen and paper and set a mark against some thirty of the names, for King had a manner that disarmed refusal.

King began to watch the dance again, for it did not feel safe to look too long into the Rangar's eyes. It was not wise just then to look too long at anything or to think too long on any one subject.

"Isami is slow about returning," said the Rangar.

"I wrote at the foot of the tar," said King. "That they are to detain him there until the answer comes."

The Rangar's eyes blazed for a second and then grew cold again, as King did not fail to observe. All this while the women danced on, in time to waiting flute music, until, it seemed from nowhere, a lovelier woman than any of them appeared in their midst, sitting cross-legged with a flat basket at her knees. She sat with arms raised and away from the waist as if in a delirium. Her arms moved in narrowing circles, higher and higher above the basket lid, and the lid began to rise. It was minutes before the bodies of two great king cobras could be made out, moving against the woman's spangled dress with hoods raised, hissing the cobra's hate-song that is prelude to the poison-death.

They struck at the woman, one after the other, and she leaped out of their range, swift and as supple as they. Instantly then she joined in the dance, with the snakes striking right and left at her. Left and right she swayed to avoid them, far more gracefully than a matador avoids the bull and courting a deadlier peril than he—poison.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"EVERY GIRL'S DREAM"—June Caprice's current picture for William Fox, "Every Girl's Dream," is without doubt the sweetest and best drama this little favorite has ever done. Mutual Weekly No. 141 will also be shown. Tomorrow Marjorie Rameau is featured in "The Eve reel drama," "The Dazzling Miss Davidson." Friday and Saturday Mary Pickford, the people's favorite, will be shown in "The Little American."

FIGHT FOR YOUR LIFE

Duty Demands Robust Health

Fight to get it and keep it

Fight—fight day in and day out to prevent being overtaken by ill health. Keep wrinkles from marring the cheek and the body from losing its youthful appearance and buoyancy. Fight when ill-health is coming with its pallor and pains, defects and weaknesses. Fight to stay fit, to stay in good health and drive it off.

But fight intelligently. Don't fight without weapons that can win the day for without the intelligent use of effective weapons the pallor spreads and weakness grows and a seemingly strong man or woman ultimately becomes a prey to ill-fate.

You will find this class of persons in the hypodermis ranks. No healthy, dull, drooping persons in that line. It is a hale, hearty, robust aggregation of quick-steppers who view life in a joyous frame of mind and are mentally and physically equal to any emergency. Hypodermis stands for sound body and sound mind—it is the invigorating tonic of the times—powerful and unsurpassed as a health restorer, vitalizer and health preserver. Fight to hold the vigor of a sound body with hypodermis or to stay the process of decay and restore health and strength—you win. This tonic of amazing, wonder-working properties, approved by physicians as a restorer and safeguard of health. It is a thoroughly scientific preparation of the very elements necessary to build up the stomach and nerves, to build strong vital tissue, make pure blood, firm flesh and solid, active, tireless muscles.

Hypodermis contains those mighty energizing agents, lecithin and yucca, which are best adapted to benefit the body and its organs. Its ingredients are absolutely necessary to the blood. In nine cases out of ten a run-down condition, pallor, pale complexion, loss of vitality, loss of strength, loss of mental and physical strength and endurance depends upon a leaching and loss of these vital elements. Hypodermis restores the body and its organs to their normal state of health and vigor. Your mental and physical strength and endurance depends upon a leaching and loss of these vital elements. Hypodermis restores the body and its organs to their normal state of health and vigor.

No need of going through life sickly and always feeling miserable. In fact you are made to feel better and put life into your body and mind that inspired the confidence that put you on the world on an equal footing with anyone. Hypodermis may be had at your druggist or direct from us for $1.00 per bottle. It is well worth the price. The 1 Remedies Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

so well last winter.

Wheat Shortage.

through. No spring wheat flour could be obtained yesterday from the wholesalers in Connellsville or in

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.
His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.
These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth?
Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards'
Olive Tablets take its place.
Most headaches, "biliousness" and that icky feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits.
50c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Click! Click! Click! Go the Busy Needles in Our Knitting School

First classes were held Monday, and now the sections are rapidly filling up as women learn that

There is still time for you to enroll but no time should be lost, as Miss Nell's—the special instruc-tress—time with us is limited. If you buy your yarns and needles from our well-stocked Art Needle Section, these instructions will cost you nothing.
